All engineered floors carry a lifetime structural warranty.

During the warranty period provided, Nature's Beauty agrees to repair or replace the section of the flooring which is found to be defective with a product of the same pattern and quality, or another pattern of equal value at Nature's Beauty sole discretion.

Nature's Beauty Hardwood floors are unique in design, color, texture and grain patterns. Each piece is individually textured and stained at the factory. With the unique nature of lumber and wood flooring, natural variations such as mineral streaks, knots and grain textures may be included in the floors overall appearance. Our samples are carefully constructed and may contain more or less of these variations than the overall floor once installed.

Wood floors may experience changes in color when exposed to light over a period of time. The amount of color change varies from species to species. Consider re-positioning area rugs and furniture to avoid dramatic changes in your wood floors appearance.
